There are three supported methods of Autodesk Exchange Apps; Create New Exchange App, Import Exchange App and Convert Exchange App. This includes object-oriented APIs for consuming Exchange App services, including Search Exchange Apps, Get Exchange App Properties, Get Exchange App Details, Install and Uninstall Exchange Apps, and Install Exchange App using Files. A low-level set of non-object-oriented APIs are also available. Autodesk Exchange Apps for AutoCAD are available for desktop, mobile, Web, iOS and Android platforms. The following steps are required to install a plugin for AutoCAD: Obtain the Source Code: Download the plugin source from the Autodesk Exchange App store or from the Autodesk Developer Portal. Compile: 1. Make sure that the build is configured for the system you wish to use (e.g., 32-bit for a 32-bit system) 2. Build the plugin in a way that it can be installed and used by AutoCAD. 3. Upload the build to Autodesk Exchange App store 4. When AutoCAD requests for the Exchange App to be installed on the system, follow the directions in the Error Reporting Console window. If your goal is to develop a plugin, you may download the source code from Autodesk Developer Portal. You can also install an AutoCAD add-on (a third-party software) into the workbench. For more information see Installing Autodesk Exchange Apps. 3D AutoCAD Architecture features "Continuous View: The new continuous view feature uses the same point of view used for dimensioning and enables architects and interior designers to model and design to client specifications with seamless alignment of walls and doors." 3D AutoCAD Architecture features "Architectural Glass: The new Architectural Glass feature was developed to speed up the architectural rendering process. The new feature makes rendering of architectural glass possible in a simple manner and provides a new level of detail."
